Subject: SFPS
Posted by [HLOW]Tomten on Thu, 16 Oct 2003 10:44:03 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

well, when I first installed suse I installed the kde and gnome and all the other progs and I wanted for a long time to delete that and when I updated my suse the SFPS droped to 5-9 and really started to eat cpu power when I was running the server, would be around 30% on the cpu. So I reinstalled suse8.2 without kde, gnome and the ping and SFPS gpt much better.