CrimsonAnyone who says "OMG your site makes fun of others" is just trying to make themselves look all high and noble.

No, see, as much as you may think everything is about being high and noble, it isn't. So stop trying already.

You're no saint.

No I'm definately not, but I'm at least mature enough to admit when I've made a mistake. Example? You lock yourself out of your own shell, and suddenly is becomes Blazer's fault! Man, I wish I had me a live-in scapegoat, too!

Crimson
I don't know where you get this attitude that I think I'm better than everyone.

Crimson
I'm better than you, but that's about it.

Hmm...That CAN'T be hypocritical at all! :rolleyes:

The bottom line is, you guys sat back and bitched about the mods we did to services but we were never actually approached about it. Was a meeting called to discuss a new solution? No. I heard a couple mentions of frustration about it then all of a sudden you wanted to delink. Good riddance!

Ah right, who were we to oppose the great and mighty Cramson? We DID raise the issue, we DID voice our opposition...It's not my fault you're so self-centered that you can't be bothered to listen.

Actually you guys seem to think you're gods because you run a couple servers. It doesn't take skill to set up a couple Renegade servers and an IRCd with 20 people on it. It just requires a couple bucks and a couple friends. What you do not have is a community. Hundreds of gamers visiting your website and IRCd daily. That is where skill comes in, and years of experience in building and nurturing online communities. I don't think that I'm better than people overall. But I am in fact a professional web developer. This is what I do for a living. This is what I have spent hundreds of hours researching and playing with. If there's one thing I know, it's websites and online communities. I was doing this for years before I ever started n00bstories.com.

I'm sure you have, however you missed one big lesson in doing so. You're not superwoman, you definately can't fly, and you can't manage "your" entire community all by yourself. As much as you'd like to think it's possible, you still end up playing favorites with that channel of yours. Expansion, you say? That's certainly a good idea...I mean honestly, how much more disorganized can you get?

Crimson
And uh, excuse me, the global messaging was not excessive by ANY definition. I sent a total of 2, maybe 3 messages EVER about the radio (big deal), and other globals in reference to system status. So that when I reconfigured some part of the network and caused a netsplit, you didn't think "OMG something is broken", though several idiots thought something was broken anyway. That's what happens on an IRC network. Globals are sent for network-wide events. Rocket Science? Nope!

Hmph... I thought you said you had a community with hundreds of people! Why then, would you need to send a global message begging people to get on your radio? Come now...I see TWO whole users listening, and a max of 13! You're so popular...I wish I was just like you!

Crimson
The funny thing is that the very people you bitch about are the very people who frequent these forums. How can you miss us if you won't fucking leave?

Let's see...these are the "Renegade Public Forums" That means I can stay. Also, I did leave your IRC...I mean, what a surprise...I kept pinging out when I tried to connect.   :rolleyes: And you're also forgetting that I didn't start this topic, and I didn't start this pissing contest. It was the friendly neighborhood asshole yet again...But that's okay. Maybe your 'community' would actually expand if people on your forums weren't constantly bitched at for stating their opinions.
