LOL... could you write a more irrelevant, uninformed piece of garbage than what this guy says?

ACK has never contributed anything... ok then. Yet you like his maps? Can you spell contradiction?

ACK is lying when he says that Glacier-Flying is the only fan made map to be included in the game. Isn't it grand when people so informed about such opinions feel the need to show others just how informed they are?

And the greatest one, you need to be involved in making something before you can have an opinion on it... speaking of that, what have you contributed in terms of an anti-cheat program?
