These forums has brought all of us together to discuss porblems thought the gaming comunity of the command and conquer franchise. I belive that all who dont think renegade is worth it anymore shouldn't leave these forums. I belive that the comunity should decide on a new game to focus apon. I belive this will let these forums live, but though an other game, a newer one, one with out cheats, and one that we will all agree is a good game. I think that we should all vote for a game we should all move on to so we can help each other in the future. I hope my opinion will bring some hope in us as a comunity.

Edit: Last one promise.
