I look at the whole AC mod of Blaze and Jelly's as a fine piece of work. Anything new that comes out that in some form or fashion alters the game itself is going to have bugs. Let's look at Glacier Flying one of the laggiest maps made but not a bad map at all don't get me wrong. The point is is Ender is right you guys come on here talking shit about who is the biggest baddest in the land. At least some people respect this game still and have made efforts (damn good ones at that) in stopping the whole Final Renegade. Yes some of you people do need to grow up and stop the lame flaming that is going on. If you still care about the renegade community and the game itself then you would think you guys would cooperate on a solution that will once and for all be stable and stop cheaters once and for all. I applaud Blaze and Jelly's efforts at stopping cheaters and as far as OZ clan goes we will continue to lead the way in support for anti cheat prgram that can stop Final Renegade.
