These are something I have found, they were from the Westwood website back in 2001 when Renegade was still in production. The text is from the news articles that the pictures were with.

"Check out these ads for Command & Conquer: Renegade! They'll be blasting their way into the September issues of your favorite computer gaming magazines. These images show first hand how Havoc's the only one that can bring you the C&C experience up close and personal, whether he's "borrowing" a Nod Buggy, feeling the heat from the Obelisk of Light in his Mammoth Tank, or crashing Kane's party, Ion Cannon style."
