You're not reading this correctly, the flechette is more effective vs. infantry because it fires faster and does more damage. The range, as I said is negligible as those bullets are cake to dodge anywhere except close range. Sydney is very effective in tunnels but in open areas it's too easy to dodge around her shots. You should stop looking at the data here and actually go test it out in a game. Patch is a far better infantry killer. He is a man to be feared (cept for Chemwarriors, obviously).
