Just something else to throw into the fray...This theory was proposed by my friend, and I think it makes excellent sense.

Obviously, at the end of Revolutions, Neo and Smith both "die" because they're opposites and able to counter each other, but how exactly does this work? Let me remind you of a quote from Reloaded:

Quote:Smith: Thank you. But as you well know, appearances can be deceiving, which brings me back to the reason why we're here. We're not here because we're free, we're here because we're not free. There's no escaping reason, no denying purpose - because as we both know, without purpose, we would not exist.

Smith 2: It is purpose that created us,

Smith 3: Purpose that connects us,

Smith 4: Purpose that pulls us,

Smith 5: That guides us,

Smith 6: That drives us,

Smith 7: It is purpose that defines,

Smith 8: Purpose that binds us.

Smith: We're here because of you, Mister Anderson, we're here to take from you what you tried to take from us. Purpose.

When Smith fought Neo in Revolutions, he had taken over everyone in the Matrix. Every human, every exile...All of it. Except Neo. When he assimilates Neo, he's assimilated everyone. Every last thing. And thus, he no longer has purpose.

And "...without purpose, we would not exist."
