I just discovered this incredibly powerful and entertaining proficiency. On this one map (I'm not familiar with map names as of yet) I was sitting on a cliff above the Nod base as a Sakura and was picking off Nod infantry as they went to fetch their vehicals on the airstrip. An apache came up to my area and I killed it, two soldiers came up to my spot and I consecutively killed them both in a gunfight, and finally I met my death when a second apache came towards me (but I'm confident that I put up a helluva good fight with it). So, do any of you guys have any particular tactics/strategies you use while sniping?
