On November 21st 2003, I've upgraded my computer, by adding a new processor, and new memory.

(RAM) usage: 218/512MB

Before, I had an AMD Duron 900MHZ, and 256mb of memory [321mhz (or something) instead of DDR]

Everything is compatible, and I've even let a professional install it for free, as I heard that AMD Processors were fragile.

And there isn't any heating problems, we've also replaced the fan.

I don't know what's wrong...

I mean, I put my Renegade CD in my CD Drive, everything's ok...I can access the menus, but when I'm on-line...Or just playing alone, the game will crash within' 3-1 seconds.

I doubt that it's an internal bug, as it's only doing that for Renegade...I think it's something about the settings, but what? I haven't touched anything.

I'm going to contact the technician to see he knows what's wrong.

But maybe someone here knows what's wrong...So...
