The model is alright, but the skin could be replaced.

The parts that are actually drawn on and not copy/pasted from a picture of another weapon could use scratches, variations, metallic color, shadows, etc.

You should actually do the skin by hand, instead of taking half of it from a picture of a weapon. The parts highlighted in red and blue are definitely taken from the second picture. I am pretty sure that the magazine highlighted in green is a copy/paste of the magazine from the second image, just blown up (it has a very similar color).
