
Subject: What do u guys think of GSA....?

Posted by DanSolo on Thu, 04 Dec 2003 19:48:55 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hi

i have been playing on GSA since the demo days of renegade, and i must admit that it has its fair share of n00bs and general a$$holes, otherwise 80% of the clans share a real good bond and most get along very well. The main selling point of Gsa to me is the community aspect, the lobbys are usually spoilt by a select few, and thats nothing what the mute cant handle. I have tried to play on WOL and i found it to be a little "sterile" in the way in which the community interacts, i admit i have a rather limited experience of WOL though.

As for the bygames servers, although i for one appreciated their exisistence there is no denying the fact that it was generally the first place that people went once they bought renegade. Although overtime i felt that the By servers were slowly degrading, the pings were generally good, but there was an substantial amount of server lag, and i for one have had many run ins with longbow. The most heart breaking point of the bygames servers closing was all the n00bs (not newbies) and cheaters migrating to the other servers and generally diluting the game for the serious and fairplaying gamers. none of this post was meant to cause offence or restart the flamewar, it is just my 2 cents so take it as you feel necesarry. If anyone from WOL would like to come play in a heavily moderated and cheat free server please feel free to drop into one of the alliance server's, information for these servers can be found at <http://ceoclan.net/publicladder/> or pay us a visit at www.dfc-hq.net

Dan Solo
