
Subject: What do u guys think of GSA....?

Posted by England on Mon, 08 Dec 2003 15:30:14 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

DanSoloI have tried to play on WOL and i found it to be a little "sterile" in the way in which the community interacts, i admit i have a rather limited experience of WOL though.

Dan Solo

I can see where you would get this from, i must admit when i first started playing renegade, it was hard to find a community to get involved with.

As a hardcore Tiberian Sun player, the gaming community there was phenomenal. But once i looked more into Renegade i could see the gaming community here was very strong.

The majority of the large organised servers had there own communitys, for instance, from what i can remember.. The-Pits is properly one of the oldest communities on Renegade. But not forgetting the earlier communities like the Wolf servers. You just had to rummage.

The community here is very strong, the chat rooms on WOL are sterile...

Anyway..

As for GSA..

MAY IT BURN IN HELL
