Yes, lots and lots of people where i live have gotten the flu. I live in Southern California (Los Angeles county), and it IS COOOOOOOLLLLLDDDD.

Lots of people were absent from my school, and some of my friends were sick along with their families. I am a lucky one...I have not gotten it ever.

However on the bright side, Christmas is coming soon so children aren't going to go to school for winter break, and that will help stop the spread of influenza. Same with work. That'll give a sort of Global Relief from it.

Get well soon all those who have it.
