drkhaze...don't make their browsers fill up their cache by making them load an image twice for completely no reason...

Your browser is smart enough to know it's the same image. It only downloads it once.

drkhazeThis forum already loads pretty slow for me, and I'm using 128k cable.. think how long it takes for 56k or lower. Some folks here are putting 50-60 Kb images in their signatures.. and a 56k downloads at a maximum rate of 5 Kb/sec, if that. They do compress text better than 128k's, though.

That's odd... my server can send information from Scottsdale, Arizona to you in about 150ms.
