We all knew the end was coming some day. Now it has finally arrived. I feel irony in the air, the ammo page news thing is like the message from the Oracle in the Matrix and we are the sheep. We try not to believe and make accusations but it looks like it is really coming. We try to stop it but it's inevitable. It will be the 6th time a C&C game falls with the end, but this time Westwood falls to. After all these falls we have a false sense of it coming back but it won't this time. Kinda ironic isn't that right?
