Subject: Signature Images (n00bstories PHP Linking)
Posted by General Havoc on Wed, 12 Mar 2003 23:26:33 GMT

CRIMSON'S NOTE: This post is WRONG. I made changes to the Image Gallery and I can't seem to get the old method to work. Visit your Image Gallery, right-click the image, and select "Properties" and use THAT url for your image. I will have the Image Galleries back at 100% very soon. Sorry for the inconvenience, and sorry to General_Havoc for editing your post.

Although the images in the signature are a good idea would people try not have dead images in their signatures. A few people are hosting their images on n00bstories image uploader then putting someting like this as an url for the image "http://www.n00bstories.com/image.fetch.php?id=1791216454". It isn't going to work   as you are linking to a PHP database lookup and not an image file, bear that in mind when doing so. You will have to find a host for the image as you won't be able to use the image uploader to display external images.

_General Havoc