

---

Subject: Please Stop

Posted by MonkeyPhonic on Fri, 09 Jan 2004 02:48:53 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

To quot Eddie Izzard

'I don't mind people being homophobic, so long as they do it behind closed doors and don't hurt anyone'

As for the KKK and their bit of road, if they want to keep it clean and put their name on it, thats fine. But surely people who are going to mess it up deliberately are being a bit backward. Would they kick each other in the nuts if the kkk sponsored underpants?

--- ' I'm not claiming to know the book through and through because I don't, in fact I know very little. And yes, I'll base my morality off on it any day.'---

Thats the most stupidly ignorant thing I've heard in a long while on this forum. You base your morality on a book you haven't read? So how do you know what the morality is? I mean for all you know there are pages in the bible forbidding the use of strawberries on a wednesday. If you want to live your life by it, fine. Just try and know what your living your life by.

---