mrpirateThe act of having sex is not what makes one gay. Being attracted to the same sex is. Well it's wrong for one man to be attracted to another man. Those feeling of attraction come from Satan. Any person who is right with God will not be attracted to someone of the same sex. And if you don't believe the same way as me then we're basically at a stalemate, because I believe something and you don't.. I think everybody has covered all the possible points by now. So unless someone manages to bring up something else I'm all done.
