wouldnt that be so simple for him?

and i dont need to prove that he dont excist, you people who are trying to shove the god down other peoples throats need to prove that he excists and not by just saying "i know" because then we do know that you are a liar.

but until then ill live my life and enjoy it without your god.
