

---

Subject: To the idiots who accused me of setting rules to suit myself

Posted by Blazer on Tue, 13 Jan 2004 16:14:07 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

SuperTech"Putting flame retardant pants on..."

It's your server and you can set whatever rules you like, but this hardly seems like a exploit to me. I mean, you buy any vehicle and the dude is toast if he's sitting in the bay. And if he's not sitting in the bay, the doors are shut.

Oh well, I just I don't get it.

Nod usually will get a soldier or buggy to be close to the doors so they stay open, and a mobart or sakura will fire inside, killing all the helpless engineers and hotwires who have their backs turned. There is no similar building on Nod that lets gdi directly hit the MCT with vehicles, thus its an unfair advantage, not to mention almost impossible to defend against. The next time it happens to you (and it will) lets see how happy you are about it

---