Most of the good servers are moderated, so any cheaters should be promptly kicked with minimal damage. Most of the time it is obvious when someone is cheating (i.e. they storm into your base solo and mow down every person and vehicle within their field of vision). I believe it has been a month or so since I was in a game with a cheater. So either the moderators have driven the cheaters away, or the cheaters have become bored of ruining games and have moved on to larger things. Either way I think the number of cheaters is going down.
