
Subject: To the idiots who accused me of setting rules to suit myself

Posted by Slicer_238 on Tue, 13 Jan 2004 23:07:02 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

DoitleYay! For once in my life I have someone on my side! That just brought a smile to my face slicer dude. Seriously blazer though I Hand crafted this masterpiece from the finest hops and barley into the forumgraphical masterpiece that sets before you today. I know I know I read the rules but there's no... Looking the other (way) post? Say glancing over and happening to miss this tiny intsy wintsy infraction of only the most casual set of stipulations? eh? eh?

Dude you put the best pictures up. I bet could say "I wish I had the picture with the restarted kid winning the race that has teh caption "Arguing over the internet is like the special olympics, even if you win you're still retarded." and you would have it in a second.
