I just today discovered (due to someone pointing it out) that the 1.31 windows zipfile of brenbot has brenbot.exe outside of the BRenBot-131 directory. This is because for the update I opened the 1.30 zipfile and deleted the old brenbot.exe and readme, and dropped in the new ones, which did not get the directory path.

SO...I have fixed the zipfile and updated it on <http://www.brenbot.com>.

Note: anyone who has brenbot 1.31 working obviously does not have to download this, as far as I know most people who got the "cannot find config file" problem noticed brenbot.exe was not in the subdir and moved it there themselves.
