I have the rights to post what I want here. If you think that posting something automatically means it has to be constructive towards the author then you are sadly mistaken.

A joke? It's not a joke when you accuse someone of cheating in private without any indication of whether or not it was a joke. I don't find it funny. You got owned, you lost, and you bitched about it.

According to the stats I posted, you suck ass compared to me in Renegade... You brought up the subject, I defended myself, you're now trying to evade it.

Doesn't work that way.
