signed a deal for a AAA title with a leading.....

I think that AAA part is an error.

Otherwise there would be "an" in front of it instead of "a", and also AAA isn't a genre of game, and it makes more sense when you take it out. They said they would not release any details also.

And also just because it said on PCNC that Petroglyph might have some involvement in C&C:3 because some of the WS staff moved on to work at Petroglyph doesn't at all mean that they are making it. For all we know they could be producing a Barney the dinosaur game.
