You just keep making your case better and better, don't you?

If there is one thing I loathe, it is people diferring the blame when it clearly falls on them.

"No, it wasn't me! It was either my sibling, cat, dog, or other pet! Honest!".

I find it very hard to believe that two people share the same sense of sentance structure, wording and mentality.

Also - You seem to post within minutes of eachother sometimes. Coinisidence? I think not.
