msgtpainAircraftkillerIt's not as if Zama\DMIsles allows you to do it without crouching down... In Titan's level, you can do it by just jumping into the "water."

So in nature, you're forced to crouch before being submerged in water; thus, as long as you don't just sink straight to the bottom, what it looks like once you're under there is irrelevant..

gotcha..

No, what I'm saying is that it's a problem where I overestimated the height of the soldiers and made some areas too deep, so if you crouch, you see through it.

It's not as if you're standing 15 feet under "water" that isn't even water to begin with...
