It's actually more powerfull than anyone expected. Without the scripts.dll RenAlert, Reborn and many other mods and maps wouldn't be possible. There are some quite amazing things done with scripts, especially ones written for RenAlert and Reborn, no one would ever have though that they would be possible before.

You can determine what sort of things are possible by opening up the source code for the DLL. If you read through it you can get the idea of how the scripts work and what sort of things can be done.
