This is a movie my cousin showed me that is really a work of art

You can find it at <http://multimedia.honda-eu.com/accord/>

Notes:

This is a commercial for Honda that will never air in the U.S. because the cars are called different things or something. There are NO special effects whatsoever. The people who made this got two Accord prototypes, and completely dismantled one of them. All those parts on the floor came out of an Accord. It took them 4 months of planning, 2 months to build everything, and 4 solid days of filming, or 606 tries until everything worked right.
