da_shizthe first two parts of your reply mean nothing to me, they show no purpose in making me seem less of an intelligent being. you may think differently. i can make decisions on my own, but when i can use that logic to my advantage, i will, and i did. and only you would twist it to make it sound like i can't think for myself. sorry, you misunderstood. it was meant to be that you are a "wannabe know-it-all." where do i get that from? you think you know everything about what makes a game fun and how things should be made. you may do things very well, but that doesn't make u supreme lord over all that is decent. also, you seem to think that you have the absolute perfect comebacks to everyone that disagrees with you. example: my original post here, i was just tryin to show that you're going too far, but instead you come back and have to show yourself better than me, because that's what kind of lame ass you are.

Okay, whatever... The irony of this is that you keep proving my point for me.

Quote:the last part you missed completely. i was referring to how old women are portrayed sitting in a salon gossiping while getting their hair and nails done. older ladies are always kind and say, no matter what, "well, aren't you the cutest thing." and by that i was making it sound like those girls at the salon were truly old women giving you the same type of compliment. get it now?

Oh yeah, I'm gonna know exactly what you mean when I've never been in a salon with a bunch of old women. That makes a huge load of sense. :rolleyes:

Try "Insults 101" if you're going to attempt to use them.
