For anyone interested, the post was posted from a Tampa Bay cable modem IP. Physics is one of my side interests, and although there are typos I can tell you that he (or someone) put a lot of effort into making it look genuine, in fact most of it is theoretically sound (except as pointed out Uranium does not have a 500 year half life). Also interesting is doing a google search for certain keywords in his text doesn't reveal that he copied the information from any online resource. Someone has a very vivid imagination

Buy hey, who says that's a bad thing. It's this sort of thinking that leads to new breakthroughs. Best spam ever
