snipesimo thats why I cticize you for promising shit apps and never releasing themNot that I'm trying to take sides, but the Sqlite Manager wasn't a shit app; it beat the hell out of trying to work with sqlite.exe for dos. Until I can get DragonServ working/BR .net 1.5 is released, I want this banlist program.

Having to manually move over 50 bans by hand is a pain in the ass beyond comprehension; first you have to search the sqlite database for their name, then you have to search the kicklog for their IP, then you have to write them both down in the name:ip form, move them to the server machine and then finally add them to wolbanlist.txt. Frankly, its a lot of work for something kinda basic & necessary, otherwise you get this shit:

Quote:<HTcmdr> !banlog uredead20

<cmdserv> (45)uredead20 banned by twolf08 on 11.03.2004 23:20:13 for cheating
