Ok... You guys want to know what art is?

For me, art is expressing myself by producing an image using the tools that i have (PS) and actually show emotion and how i feel into the picture.

You'll notice in my pieces that sometimes the graphics are bright, sharp edges and shiny.

Others you'll notice are dark, rounded and shadowed. The darker ones usually come up when im feeling down, depressed, had a shit day or just plain not happy. The brighter ones are the kind when things are going ok, im happy, enjoying myself and on a high.

Also Aprime and other guys who were on the NOS boards noticed that when i had a bit to drink, my work quality used to just make the rest of my work look like shit.

See you need to actually walk around outside see things with your own eyes and actually be inspired. These are the kind of things that make a good artist.

I've been using PS for about a year now, its my converter tool. To convert my feelings into graphical images. Im also a Grafitti artist, the can is another tool of mine to express feelings.

If you guys can get the inspiration and recognise it, you will notice the quality of your work gradually get better and better.
