da_shizBut in defense, if it is a necessary force, it's not a sin. Thou Shalt Not Steal, but yet intelligence steals secrets and other info from other countries.

Does that make it right just because it happens all the time?

I don't know why God directed the Isrealites to destroy on occasion. But in each case he directed them to do it for whatever his reason was. That does not mean there's a get out of jail free card to start wars. The crusaders got this wrong too.

God's laws are immutable. Only he can bypass them. After all, he created them.
