what happens when a server admin wishes to not give out the remote admin information to his mods?

RenRem32 .Net was made by me, a .Net clone of DJLapTop's RenRem32 (under permission). Then released Open Source for people to use freely.

Steve Tall made the FDSTalk.dll, not RenRem32 or RenRem32.Net.

Now, with all that said.

If a server admin doesn't want to give out his remote admin information to his moderators, uses BR.Net, and the users have a fragile memory or a bad case of CRS, then this would be a nifty app.

btw, snipesimo is the official tech support weenie for BR.Net, has been for a while, and knows more about it then anyone without source code.
