I have spybot but there is something on my computer it cant find .

It causes my computer to get lots of popups to where it confuses the computer so i have to reboot it, then about 30min later is does it agian.

Is there another program i can use to get whatever is on it off, before the page fully loads it shows a hidden folder under my documents, but when i open it to delete it, the computer freezes

Im really not smart at computers so i dont really know what the problem is :oops:
