gibberishmac This is for all people who have their own moderation software suite and do not use brenbot.

I would still prefer to have a Server Side API.

There are several features which the SSC probably won't support (at least in the first version) such as:

Only activating the anti-cheat code after a certain number of players join the server.

Additionally I want to be able to intergrate renguard with my own anti-cheat code.

You can PM me with things you would like to see, and I can tell you if they are theroetically possible with the current protocol set.
