If you two both want something from this, why not settle with something a little differant? Like the blood trick for just one model instead of all, or a few more tricks or some assistance on something, for a few models....?

I know tricks and all may not seem like they're worth as much as a model but it's the little things that make games and mods what they are (big things play a part to). Not trying to take sides, just saying, you both could benifit from this.
