Actually, he's named after a chemical value opposite of acidic. Such things are wasp repellant (I believe, I think wasps stings are acidic) and womans skin, which is more alkaline than a mans. If you listened to your teacher in chemistry, you'd know

And 1 last thing before my IQ drops from hanging around on this topic. You do realise alkaline likes to post controversial topics like this to provoke the sort of replies you're giving? He knows y'all hate him. You're being pretty much lead like dogs here, n00bstories defense.
