Yeah,

I recognize most of you ol farts!

My college roommate, BRUUPO, introduced me to Renegade on his rig, and it was the first FPS I had ever played. I was already 30 years old and never really played computer games.

I went out and bought a computer JUST to play Renegade! To this day it is the only FPS game I play, and the primary reason for my comp at home.

The original Renegade Forums were the first forum boards I had ever visited.

I guess you can indeed teach an old dog new tricks.

PS: Hello to those of you I haven't seen in a long long time.

Remember when other forum folks could "rank" you? LOL.

Remember when running backwards to the ob was the biggest cheat in the game? LOL.

Remember when nodmama and blkwasp were the only couple who played?
