
Subject: NEWS UPDATE : Bombs over Baghdad....
Posted by [\[sg\]theOne](#) on Thu, 20 Mar 2003 13:25:19 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

eggmacWhat you got are a couple of radio stations.
Why do you refer to the USA always as we? As if you had ANYTHING to do with that bombing.

Attacks of this nature really are futile...I heard it while I was @ work fielding technical support phone calls for DSL service. One of the manager founds it important enough to stand up and yell to the call center that Baghdad was being bombed. I thanked him later since it's important news I wouldn't of learned otherwise for some time. To your seconds point I ask...can you be for real ? Should I refer to American actions as a seperate entity from myself such as.."America is currently bombing Iraq". Using we in reference to the country one resides falls into the catagory of commonly accpeted use of contexes. Especially considering the fact that my moral/ethical & geopolitical views align with the current action that is taking place.

The One
