i had the same probleme but i wasn't begging for an answe... i removed renguard and then downloaded it again and i have no problemes any further, it also works for the update problemes.

and the renguard ain't a piece of shit but it's actually good program with good people working on it but it's your kind of ppl that the program doesn't work or has a bug (it's released fast and updates come depending on the errors they get) and you don't get an answe to fix it, let the developers do there work and don't start to criticise about what there trying to achieve.

nice job all who worked on it, i m happy with the renguard i have now
