hum...

i really appreciate the work of the blackhand studios. sure, i don't want to have cheaters in an online game.
the problem that i have with renguard is that i was "forced" to use it:
if i dont't install it i can't play on some of the most important servers like Tefon in germany. ok i can accept that so i installed renguard. it worked fine but suddenly (after the auto-update) it didn't work anymore. also i couldn't uninstall it because after that renegade wasn't working anymore. i had to reinstall renegade and i was really pissed off because i installed the game three times some weeks ago after i got some virus-problems. i won't install renguard on my new renegade-isntallation until there is defenetly a 100% working version of it. i read about version 1.02 and even 1.03... hope they are coming soon because my most favourite servers won't let me in without renguard.

but i am happy at all that renegade isn't already dead because it wasn't such an success for westwood and also isn't very famous, but for me it is one of the best games and THE best online-game at all.

i wish there would be more updates and some easy to install map-packs (i really have problems to install the maps at all, at least it was so some years ago when i tried it) ok what i just want to say was: thanks to the programmers of renguard, keep it on.
