[EDIT]

...my bad...read something that answered my question.

[EDIT]

Why don't both of you give information or files to someone like Crimson and have that someone send the files to the other way...that is if you are both scared that one is just going to keep information from the other and the trade doesn't go thru...other than that, just give a full trade of information. I know you both don't like eachother, but the trade is fair making both parties happy...
