K9TrooperBabies are not the hard part. It's keeping them out of trouble when they get older that proves to be a challenge.

i was talking about the fear of pain....im allergic to pain and lets just say squeezing something the size of a watermelon out of your "you know where" is gonna hurt some.....I truly wish the story about the stalks that my folks told me when i was little was true.....(you know babies come pre-packed, wrapped up and left on your doorstep by a stalk)
