Is there anything on the horizon for giving server owners more control over what is/isn't allowed on their server? My first thought would be the ability to have server-specific lists of select disallowed skins, like all SBH skins, or all med tank skins. That way certain skins that people consider cheats could be disallowed without running pure mode.

I know I heard more things of this nature are coming, but I haven't heard any details yet. Just throwing ideas out there.
