Sounds like a good map idea.

One thing I would say, is that all those alternate skins you put in Seaside Canyon make the game look really messy. GDI doesn't look like a team if half of the tanks are gold and the other half are green. People already have the choice to download replacement skins if they want to, so I would prefer to have the choice to see all of my team in a uniform colour.

And yes, I know... "if only they were skins and not textures"
