Currently, the US, and especially the world, is blinded. Blinded by the largest terrorist organization in the USA, and perhaps the world. The US Media. How does the world get their information about current events that are going on in here? Most likely, it's from the media... Too bad the Democrats control the media and their boy isn't in office, so the underlying message isn't going to be one that speaks of agreement with President Bush.

Once you can step back and look at all the facts and see how the Democrats and the liberals have been, you will see... your eyes will be opened.
