Small update to the gallery. I've added in images of the blue moss stuff as well as a few showing what happens when you get too close to some of the mutated plants.

I still haven't been able to come up with models for the blue cactus and giant blue crystal. Every attempt I make at them comes out looking horrible. I'm thinking of just forgetting about them and moving on to other stuff since there's not much left to do other than a little texture work and vis generation.
